

NEW CAMPSITE IN PREPARATION FOR BOY SCOUTS

Keicher Calls for Volunteers to Convert Lake Shore
Land Into Outing Center

Boys of Valley council, Boy Scouts of America, will have an excellent campsite at their disposal on the east shore of Lake Winnebago if they are willing to volunteer their services to help put the land in proper shape, according to announcement of P. O. Keicher, valley executive.

Many hours will be devoted during the next two or three weeks to work on the grounds and all scouts who have time to spare and want some outdoor pleasure are asked to communicate with Mr. Keicher. He will take groups to the lake with him to assist in the camp preparation. Every day next week will be spent there.

Several acres of land on the old John Mueller farm, now the property of Nicholas Mueller, have been obtained by Mr. Keicher for use of the scouts. The tract is three-fourths of a mile west of Harrison on the east shore of Lake Winnebago, about two miles further south than High Cliff. It is ideally adapted for camping and scout training, consisting partly of rocky cliffs and some woodland, and has a good beach adjoining.

First efforts at improvement will be those of digging out the spring to obtain a greater flow of water, building a trail down the hill to the tent locations, a stairway to the beach and stone supports for the tent floors. The brush also is being removed.

This location is within convenient shooting distance of Appleton and provides a camp which can be used for weekend hikes all through the year as well as for longer outing periods in the summertime.

ACCEPT BIDS ON PEAT PROPERTY UNTIL MONDAY

Sale of the land and personal property of the Appleton Peat Products Co. which was started Thursday morning at the courthouse will be held up until Monday morning with bids being received until that time. F. S. Bradford is receiver for the company.

A large number of bids were received Thursday morning but it was decided to hold the bidding open until Monday to give others a chance. All bids which will be received between Thursday and Monday will be by mail and bids will be opened at 10 a. m. The articles for sale include 400 acres of land, all of the machinery of the company and the railroad track on the property. Judge Edgar V. Werner presided at Thursday's meeting.

TRAVELERS MEET AT ELKHART LAKE

United Commercial Travelers
Getting Ready for 1925
State Convention

Appleton members of the United Commercial Travelers who last year entertained the state convention of their organization here will have a chance to rest and see other folk work this year when they attend the state convention at Elkhart Lake June 4, 5 and 6.

Registration of members and assignment to hotels will take place Thursday morning, June 4. Opening exercises will be held at 10:30 at Siebkin theater. The afternoon session will be held in Osthoff's "Gold Room." Entertainment features for the late afternoon and evening include a dance at Pine Point pavilion and a motion picture show. The ladies auxiliary will have a meeting early in the evening.

Following the Friday morning session, delegates will go on a picnic. There will be a reception for ladies at Pine Point pavilion at 4 o'clock. A feature movie will be given in the evening. Secretaries will hold a meeting in Osthoff's Gold Room at 7 o'clock.

5 APPLETONIANS GET DEGREES AT U. W. THIS YEAR

Commencement Program Will Be Held in Camp Randall to Accommodate Crowds

Five Appletonians are listed among those who will receive degrees at the University of Wisconsin commencement exercises next month. They are Carl W. Damsheuser, Oscar J. Schlegel, Sydney B. Solinger, J. F. Ziesler and Miss Janet E. Smith.

The exercises will be held in Camp Randall stadium at sunset on June 22. Graduation took place in the agricultural pavilion from 1916 to last June, but the ever increasing size of the graduating class necessitated the change to Camp Randall this year. Before 1916 commencement was held in the gymnasium.

It is estimated that from 8,000 to 10,000 persons can be accommodated without utilizing sections on the east and west side which will be to the rear of the platform. Definite information as to how many tickets will be allotted to each senior is not available as yet.

Students are hopeful that their mothers will find it possible to come to Madison for the weekend of May 29, 30 and 31, when many entertainments and special features to interest mothers will be provided.

WANT POSTAL PATRONS TO USE REGISTRY SERVICE

Registry of first class mail with city carriers has been falling off steadily for a number of years, according to postal authorities here, until that faculty now is almost entirely in disuse. Regular post office registry has been increasing steadily, but apparently the public has forgotten that first class mail may be registered with city carriers, who at all times carry full equipment for that duty.

According to H. J. Franck, assistant postmaster, several carriers have not registered mail on their routes for a number of years. This service was instituted for the convenience of patrons, and the public should take advantage of it, Mr. Franck holds.

ASK DANCE HALL MEN TO SEND IN REPORTS

Eleven out of thirty-eight dance hall proprietors have sent in replies to questionnaires sent out by P. O. Keicher, chairman of the recreation committee of the better cities contest. He is asking that the others reply as promptly as possible, since much depends on his committee's report in helping Appleton to obtain a prize of $1,000.

These questionnaires were mailed in order to ascertain how many dance halls there are in Outagamie county and the approximate attendance at each. These figures will be used with others to show the extent of patronage at amusement places.

TWO STATES O. K. PARK ON RIVER

Minnesota and Iowa Legislatures Favor Game Refuge in River Bottoms

The state legislature of Minnesota and Iowa have already passed favorably upon the proposal of the federal government to establish a national park and wild range refuge along the bottom lands of the Mississippi river, officials of the Isaac Walton League here report.

Before the park can be established, it is necessary to secure the consent of the four states involved in the purchase of the lands by the federal government and to concurrent jurisdiction of the territory by the government and the states.

Both Illinois and Wisconsin seemed ready to refuse consent when the project was first discussed. The situation has been cleared up, however, the Waltonians believe, and the approval of both states will probably be secured. In Illinois the opposition came from within the legislature, and it appeared that the bill would be defeated until the speaker of the assembly threw all his influence in favor of the measure. Consideration of the project was deferred until later, but it is generally conceded that the bill will pass when it is introduced. In Wisconsin the opposition came

CUT TUITION RATES FOR H. S. TEACHERS

Lee C. Rasey, principal of Appleton high school, has received word of a summer tuition rate which will be offered by the University of Chicago to teachers who are definitely contracted to teach in 1925-1926. A fourth of the tuition fees will be remitted to teachers who desire to avail themselves of the work given at the university during the summer quarter. This applies only to teachers of faculties in schools cooperating with the University of Chicago.

The special consideration is given to principals, superintendents and teachers of high school, and does not in any way include grade school teachers. Junior high school teachers are included when they spend at least half of their time teaching subjects credited as college admission subjects in the university. These teachers must hold degrees conforming to the recognized standards.

From Governor Blaine, who announced that he would veto the bill if it should be passed, a substitute bill was drawn up however, which clarified the passage regarding the rights of the government, and made it plain that the park should always be open for the enjoyment of the public, while the state of Wisconsin should not suffer the loss of administration or game rights. To this Blaine agreed and it is believed that the measure will pass when it is introduced into the legislature.

WERNER WILL ATTEND SECRETARY MEETING

George F. Werner, general secretary of Appleton Y. M. C. A., will leave Friday for Chicago where he will attend the 1925 city general secretary conference which opens on Saturday at Hotel Windmere. The conference is for general secretaries of city associations and extends from Saturday morning until Tuesday evening. Y. M. C. A. secretaries from all over the country are expected to be present.

Oil heat is here and Nokol brought it

Here two Nokols are shown, one installed in a steam boiler, and the other in a water heater.

The success of automatic oil heating for homes dates from the day the Nokol combustion chamber was perfected. It is radically different from any other method of burning oil. In it it burns with a clean, sootless, odorless flame.

The day of oil heat is here. Nokol brought it. The success of automatic oil heating for the home dates from the day 7 years ago when the first Nokol was installed.

The leadership of Nokol, established at that time has never been challenged. Of approximately 75,000 automatic oil burners installed in the United States, by 150 manufacturers, 22,000 are Nokols.

Nokol leadership has been maintained by the principles of oil combustion by the first Nokol laid down. In 7 years not one fundamental change in these principles has been necessary.

Its operating cost is less than that of coal. It is also the best of our knowledge less than that of any other oil burner, regardless of the grade of fuel used. Nokol efficiency makes possible the use of good fuel at the lowest cost.

To make certain you will have your Nokol for Fall, act now. Call for one of our engineers. Or send the coupon.

Interchangeable Platen

One of the exclusive features of the L. C. Smith & Bros. typewriter is the interchangeable platen.

With the use of no tools except the fingers, platens of different degrees of hardness can be inserted. There is the regular platen, the medium, the hard, and the brass platen, depending upon the number of copies desired.

Then there is the card-writing platen and the label-writing platen.

It is economical to have platens of different degrees of hardness, because a soft platen, which is used for ordinary correspondence, with one or two carbon copies, is much easier on ribbons, carbon paper, on the mechanism of the typewriter and on the nerves of the operator, as well as being much more quiet.

It is a great advantage, therefore, to be able to take out a hard platen, after it has been used for a special purpose, and insert the softer platen for regular work.

Ask for folder, "Many in One."

The Hodag

A LIVELY IMAGINATION and the left-overs of a taxidermist's shop gave to the world the precious hoax of the Hodag. Of course, the conglomeration of wolf's teeth, bits of hide, bear's claws and cowhorn spines that made up this fantastic monster wouldn't stand direct examination. But a photograph, adroitly staged in a bone-strewn lair, helped put over the story to the credulous, in spite of the protests of amused naturalists.

The grotesque patchwork of petroleum left-overs, molded into a semblance of gasoline and sold from an elaborate setting that bears the outward earmarks of sincere service—all this may be swallowed as evidence of safe motor quality by the gullible or indifferent motorist. But can you picture a real chemist or petroleum expert who could not penetrate to the kerosene and carbon-laden origin of its hodge-podge materials—or who would for a moment accept it as a legitimate representative of the true gasoline genus.

Wadhams 370 True Gasoline

has no practical jokes to put over on the public which trusts its name, nor has it the arrogance to believe that it can improve on nature. The genuine, old-fashioned straight-run fuel of natural explosiveness is still good enough—without stuffing with bulk-making elements or left-overs. "370" starts like a flash, explodes instantly and completely, leaves no residue of harmful carbon and foul kerosene.

CAR MAKERS SEEK TO GIVE BUYERS VALUE FOR MONEY

Higher Priced Manufacturers Set Pact, Cheaper Must Follow

In going into another year of motor car history, the manufacturers are bending every effort towards giving the owner what he expects, or more. The automobile has passed through two stages: the development stage, the production stage, and it is now about to enter into what might be called the refinement stage.

In higher priced motor cars, it is very apparent that a greater degree of riding comfort will be the slogan for the immediate future, and the low-priced cars must perform follow.

A motor car when delivered to the owner, should be not only ready to run but ready to ride in, with comfort. The chassis and body should be as well designed and comfortable to ride in as a bigger or heavier car.

The finish should be as durable, the material in the moving or wearing parts should be equal; the difference in cost should be obtained through less weight, larger facilities and greater production.

Better cars, designed to withstand road shock, metas longer life, better appearance and greater second-hand value are other words a better investment. The motor car buyer wants all of these things and is entitled to them.

The necessity for the motor car being clearly and definitely established in every corner or hamlet of our country, its value and upkeep, is a problem of every household or business.

When large producers of low-priced motor cars are able to offer the public the advantages, it is only because they have the means of research whereby to delve into the material field and ascertain where to find the required strength and endurance. Science helps on every hand, several of our large universities conduct very good research laboratories, but every good research laboratory has its staff of metallurgists and engineers who necessarily must obtain more strength, more elasticity and less friction, which are the three main factors in motor car life.

The greater production in the factories has made greater quality not only a possibility, but a necessity. The advance in tool design has become so rapid that practically every factory has its own records of progress. Limits of manufacturing are considerably less than they were before the war, and are still going down. The one-tenth of a thousandth of an inch measurement is becoming quite common and instruments are being offered to register a one hundred thousandth part of an inch. This will bring still more accuracy in manufacturing.

Machines are constantly being devised to improve the surface of the machined part. Why? Because this reduces friction and friction is wear. The inspection of factory made product is becoming more of a science and less of a routine operation every day, the machines and the tools coming in for greater attention, and the scrapie is getting smaller for economic reasons.

The large manufacturer does not lose track of the product when it leaves the factory. He has field forces which follow up the car after it gets into the hand of the dealer and user, and is constantly watching and advising the dealer on how to assist the customer to get the best possible result from the economy standpoint.

The adjustment of a motor car, particularly in sections of our country where the mean temperature or altitude variations are the greatest, means a great deal in the economic operation of the car, and independent tests by manufacturers in such sections often bring possibilities in adjustment which result in saving to the owner, and longer life to the car.

The mystery which clung to the motor car when it was first developed, has long since been dispelled in the factories, and it is rapidly being dispelled in the field. The Buying Public is fully able to specify what it wants in motor car performance, and the manufacturer must produce it if he expects to maintain or increase his volume.

SERVICING OF AUTOS GIVEN MUCH THOUGHT

Service Is Recognized as of Prime Importance to Every Car Owner

In connection with the rapid development of the automobile industry it is interesting to note the attention that is being given by automobile companies to the servicing of automobiles. They are constantly striving to develop service to the point where it will be on a par with manufacturing—a service that will meet every requirement of every customer. Service has come to be recognized not only as of prime importance to every car owner, but also to the dealer as a permanent phase of his business, both in periods of depression and prosperity, and as a very important factor in the maintenance of sales of new cars.

Probably no branch of industry has developed with such startling rapidity as automobile service. Recently the advance has been especially noted in the case of a short time ago, are found special tools and equipment that do the work rapidly and with a degree of accuracy and refinement that rivals auto manufacture where limits of less than one thousandth of an inch are not uncommon. Modern flat rate systems and other new developments in modern service management remove any uncertainty as to the car owner's property.

In this development the mechanic holds the key. Competent mechanics, well trained experts, specialists on the cars they service, is an absolute essential. Every modern service station is building an organization of such men and careful provision is being made for specialized training, both for men new to the organization, and for young men who are ambitious to enter this field.

One of the most interesting of these training programs is the specialized Service Course which is given by the Flint Institute of Technology at Flint, Michigan. This course is a strictly modern training in every sense. It begins with a thorough and systematic manner every phase of construction, maintenance, and repair, including the application of the most modern tools, equipment and methods. Graduates of the course are recognized experts.

Twelve weeks of forty-four hours each are required to complete the course, and on its satisfactory completion, the student receives a diploma signed by executives of the Flint Institute of Technology and the Flint Institute of Technology. New classes which are strictly limited in size are started every four weeks. Already every state in the Union and many foreign countries have taken this course and have established a very enviable reputation for themselves and their school in service work. The General Motors Export Corporation is having its service men and salesmen take this course in order to secure the benefit of this special training.

This course is simply one phase, but a very important one in the program to provide a complete service to customers. It illustrates the lengths to which automobile companies are going to give lasting value to the cars their customers purchase.

LARGE STEERING WHEEL OFFSETS BALLOON TIRES

Improved Appearance of Good Maxwell Due to General Redesigning

Among other chassis changes on the good Maxwell is easier steering to compensate for balloon tires, which are standard on all models. The steering wheel is larger, with spark and throttle controls of the latest short lever type atop the steering column.

Improved appearance is due to the general redesigning of the bodies, wider, deeper radiator, lower running boards, wider fenders with deeper skirts, and new headlamps. Natural wood wheels are standard. All bodies are built closer to the ground. One piece windshields are standard on closed models, on which shrouded visors are built integral with the top. All dash instruments are grouped in a single oval panel under glass.

The touring car is finished in blue Duco, as are all models. It is upholstered in plum colored dudd-toned crushed leather. As is the case with other models, this car appears longer, lower and more pleasing in every way. Natural wood wheels and balloon tires fit in unusually well with the general design.

The club sedan, one of the leading sellers in the entire industry since it was introduced a year ago, is materially improved in appearance. The new type visor, one-piece windshield, new color finish and other improvements have enhanced its look as well as its value. The top has been changed to a new pattern, but dual-tone crushed leather may be had at slight extra cost.

With several important refinements in its own special design, the sedan has been particularly improved. Maxwell body builders say it is the best looking model they have ever turned out. The top has been changed to a new pattern, but dual-tone crushed leather may be had at slight extra cost.

JUSTICE AND WEALTH

Albert E. Fall, Edward L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair have been reindicted by a District of Columbia grand jury on charges of conspiracy in connection with the Teapot Dome and Elk Hill oil leases. The first indictments against them were dismissed on the technicality that a representative of the department of justice was in the grand jury room at the time the indictments were drawn. It would appear that the government has dropped its accusations of bribery against Fall and Doheny, as neither of the indictments charge bribery, which accusation was included in the indictments last year.

The country will approve the efforts of the government to convict these alleged conspirators. It is beginning to be apprehensive, however, that there is to be a repetition of the old story of big criminals getting away with little or no punishment. The country knows that so far as the real facts go, Fall was bribed by Doheny. There is no argument about this proposition morally.

It is difficult to see why so plain a case of bribery cannot be established in law. Fall, as secretary of the interior, got $100,000 in cold cash from Doheny, delivered by Doheny's agent in a satchel. Doheny got oil leases of incalculable value through the secretary of war. If this is not bribery, what is it? Why, therefore, does the government drop the charge of bribery?

If these conspirators are not brought to justice for their acts, it will be a strong indication to the public, whatever the explanation may be, that political power and wealth have controlled. It will result in a vast amount of suspicion against the integrity of the government and the judicial system. Much of mischief of a serious nature will be done by failure to convict in a case so obviously deserving of punishment.

FIELD MARSHAL FRENCH

The greater military figures of the World war are passing from earth faster than we would like. Most of them were well past middle age when the first guns were fired. Nearly seven years have passed since the armistice. They are old men as we reckon age.

The Earl of Ypres, better remembered as Field Marshal French, supreme active commander of Great Britain's forces in the field when the war raged most fiercely, died the other day. He was 73. He was a military man throughout his active life, joining the army in 1875 after a brief service in the navy, where his father held a commission as captain. John French advanced rapidly, serving with exceptional satisfaction in various stations and gaining his first real celebrity in the Boer war under Lord Roberts. But in history he will be known as the man who saved England from invasion by the Germans. He commanded the defenders at the famous Battle of Ypres when the enemy was pressing toward the Channel ports. He won and winning, earned the gratitude of all the world adhering to the allies' cause, and the honors which subsequently were bestowed upon him. There were many critical periods in the World war. One of the most critical was that at Ypres when Marshal French proved himself the man eminently qualified to meet the great emergency.

AMUNDSEN'S POLAR FLIGHT

Road Amundsen's airplane expedition to the North Pole is lost in uncertainty. Those temperamentally pessimistic believe the explorer and his party will never be seen again. The more hopeful are inclined to the opinion that he has met with an accident which, while presenting the gravest dangers and difficulties, may nevertheless be overcome by his knowledge of arctic conditions and his resourcefulness as an explorer.

Amundsen's heroic undertaking has challenged the admiration of the world because of the great daring exhibited in risking the life of himself and companions to the unreliability of a gasoline motor in an airplane. It was not physically possible for him to take along much more than enough gasoline for the round trip of 1300 miles or more. While Peary found the weather at the Pole at this season of the year, or rather slightly later, comparatively mild, that is from ten to thirty degrees below zero, he nevertheless encountered what he described as a sudden "howling gale" at three days' march from the pole. The furies of such a storm might, and in all probability would, result in disaster to an airplane. Of course, Amundsen took all of these perils into consideration in planning his flight. He doubtless reasoned that the chances were in his favor, although fully recognizing that if weather conditions were against him he might never come back.

Amundsen's expedition is into one of the few tracts remaining on the earth where human beings are not to be found and which human beings have never visited. The purposes of his expedition were purely scientific. He sought to determine, in addition to the feasibility of aerial navigation to the Pole and in polar regions, the more important question as to whether unknown lands lie between Spitzbergen and the North Pole and between the Pole and Northwestern Alaska. Peary's dash to the Pole covered an area north from Grant Land, while Nansen explored much of the region between Siberia and the Pole. Of greater importance than the question whether the territory between the areas covered by Nansen and Peary contains land, is the question whether the unexplored area of a million square miles north of Alaska, the Behring Strait and Wrangell Island contains land. We know from Peary's observations that there is no land at the Pole. It is a vast open sea. His soundings there reached a depth of 1500 fathoms without touching bottom. The charting of these great unknown regions is one of the last services exploration can render to geography.

The possibilities of air navigation in polar regions is to be further attested in June by the British expedition in a blimp. If the Amundsen party fails to return the world will never know what befell it, that not even the bodies or wreckage of the airplane will ever be recovered. It is, however, too soon to abandon hope that they are still alive and will be able to make their way back to civilization. There are a number of possibilities for either their rescue or for saving themselves. They stand a fair chance of being realized, and they are well equipped for a forced landing in case physical conditions, such as open water or ice barricade, would prevent travel until their supplies were exhausted.

TODAY'S POEM

By HALL COCHRAN

FISHIN'

Give me a rowboat, a couple of oars and a sun shining bright over head. Fetch me some bait, and some fisherman's stores and some ham and a loaf of rye bread.

Point to the spot where the fishin' is fair, and give the old rowboat a shove. Grant me the strength just to row myself there, so I'll be in the life that I love.

Plunk! goes the anchor. I'm settled at last, and I wiggle a worm on the hook. Switch through the air, and a line is soon cast. A bobber is riding the brook.

Run along, world, 'cause I'm busy just now. Busy at fishin' and such. Sure, I can fish, for I've always known how, but the fishes aren't bitin'—not much.

Might just as well take it easy a spell, and sneak me a half an hour's snooze. Can't miss a lot, for it seems, at this spot, that there aren't any fishes to lose.

Say! Where's the sun? Why, the night time's begun. I've slept all the afternoon through. True, fishin' is slick, but if I have my pick, why, I'd rather just sleep—wouldn't you?

GUARDIANS, EH?

Dr. Matthias Nicoll Jr. paced from one end of his office to the other, smoking a cigaret and gazing downward at the blue carpet. He would stop at the window to stare out over the roofs of old Albany, at the fireplace to flick the ashes from his cigar, or at the door of his office to read backward on the frosted glass the words:

Dr. Matthias Nicoll Jr.,
State Commissioner of Health
Private.

"Well, Watson," one would expect next, but this is not a murder story exactly. I have quoted the zippy paragraph from a full page Sunday magazine story about the New York state health commissioner. There was no allusion to Watson in the story. Instead the commissioner's extreme restlessness was apparently due to the throes of composition. The author of the story explains that the commissioner was composing an article on the subject of scarlet fever.

Gosh, that newspaper man ought to see me when I am composing an article on some piffing subject. Face the length of the room? Why, sometimes I get down and roll about in agony. I have bitten the stem off some of my most precious pipes as we approached a hot climax. I have torn huge fistfuls of Webster right out of the book and on one occasion I whanged the exclamation point such a furious blow that I knocked a large hunk of the steel base right off the typewriter. And here is the health commissioner of the great (in her own estimation) state of New York, nervously pacing his frosted office and flicking his cigaret at the fireplace. The newspaper story does not inform us whether the health commissioner occasionally got out his lip-stick and powder puff. But it does dwell on the health commissioner's main rule for the prolongation of life—a golden rule, so we are told. Hear ye, hear ye:

The doctor took the cigaret from his mouth. "Here is the rule," he said, without raising his eyes from the floor (that blue carpet must have had him under a spell): "Moderation in all things except sleep."

All this time the cigaret held the center of the piece. Watch it not. Dr. Nicoll walked over to the window and held his cigaret (one might suspect this was a movie scenario) so that the smoke curled up through the incoming shafts of sunlight.

"We all of us smoke immoderately, I guess," he pondered.

Which sort of takes the force out of the health commissioner's "golden rule for the prolongation of life."

Of course it is just the usual pathetic attempt to excuse one's own weakness. Then the newspaper man slips in a question: "Those who don't inhale, are they injured by excessive smoking?"

And the health guardian of 10,000,000 people, uttered the remarkable remark, according to the published story:

"Hardly, unless, perhaps, by a little catarrh."

Of course it is conceivable that this newspaper interview was published without the health commissioner's knowledge—but it appeared in a reliable newspaper and we assume it was approved.

That remarkable remark about the effects of excessive smoking is in line, I should say, with the everyday bunk dispensed by the New York state department of health in official matter distributed to the newspapers.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Rhubarb.

Ben Told declares rhubarb contains some poisonous acid and is harmful to eat. (Mrs. G. M. McP.)

Answer.—In certain rare metabolic disturbances the oxalic content of rhubarb and spinach, figs, gooseberries, chocolate, cocoa, tea may require an embargo on these items for a while, but ordinarily rhubarb is wholesome and healthful to eat.

Sir: I am in a rather unique sort of argument with the man who painted my house. I objected to the job and showed him numerous places where his workmanship might have been excellent. If he had used a little paint, I selected a rather dark shade for the job and I am suspicious that this painter either originated them or is a confirmed addict to crossword puzzles. He was supposed to have put on two coats, but, believe me, sir, and excuse my extravagance in commas, the two coats wouldn't make a gauze undershirt for a germ. As a painter this fellow would make a fine lecturer in an art museum. He took me here and there to show me the excellence of the work, so maybe the bare spots are all right, as I am told that the nude is art. His general answer to my criticism is that the job is not as bad as it is painted. Waiting for it to dry, I am, sir, with all the strength of a two weeks' noseful of turpentine, sincerely yours,

ROLLO

HOME IS OFTEN TO BLAME WHEN YOUTHS STRAY

Causes Usually Can Be Found For Delinquency in Average Boy or Girl

BY FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

Washington, D. C.—On all sides protests of middle age against the restraint of modern youth are heard. Even those who would resent the implication that they are approaching middle age shake their heads and wonder if all the tales told of high school boys and girls can really be true. It seems incredible, but the information emanates from those authorities who are apparently "in the know." And then the questions arise, "What is the cause of this? How has all this come about?"

Of course the usual explanation that after every great war there is a general moral let-down is given. But the juvenile court officials say that in the majority of cases the cause of juvenile delinquency can be directly traced to the parents and to home environment. Undoubtedly a statement to this effect will bring forth a storm of protests. Parents will rise up and stoutly maintain that "we do everything in our power and within our means to give our children everything they need and want." And unquestionably they do. Therein lies a great deal of the trouble.

TOO MUCH FREEDOM.
Not long ago a police officer on duty near one of the large hotels in Washington which is one of the popular dancing places of the younger set, arrested a youth on the technical charge of parking incorrectly. The officer had seen this boy with another one and two girls come out of the hotel about 1 o'clock and could tell by the way they walked that they had been drinking. Since the boys were 16 and 17, respectively, and the girls 14 and 15, he made the arrest on the technical charge in order to bring them under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court. It was found that the boy driving the car was the son of prominent parents. This is one result of over-indulgent parents.

Then there is the too-strict parent, the man who is a tyrant in his home. By his lack of sympathy and understanding with his son, he is likely to drive him away. A case lately brought to the attention of the juvenile court of Washington was that of the son of a professional man. This boy had run away and gone to another city where he was picked up for stealing an automobile.

HE WAS TYRANT.
It appeared that the father completely lacked understanding of the boy and his besetting idea was to dominate him absolutely. As an illustration the mother told of an instance when the boy had failed to empty the ashes in the furnace before going to bed. When the father came home late that night he discovered this, dragged the boy out of bed and down three flights of stairs without even permitting him to put on slippers or bathrobe. In addition he beat him at almost every step and also while he was removing the ashes. After the furnace had been cleaned out to his complete satisfaction the boy was forced to carry the can's hundred or so feet out to an alley. As a result of this, he was unable to get up the next day, not only on account of the beating but because of the terrific cold which resulted, and which very nearly developed into pneumonia.

The foregoing have all been illustrations of delinquency in the children of well-to-do parents. Then, of course, there are those children whose environment has not been particularly conducive to an exemplary childhood, or who may be handicapped by hereditary tendencies. A number of years ago a couple of refinement but of moderate means adopted a brother and sister from an asylum in New York state. They reared these children as their own, and in fact the boy and girl did not know that they were not their own parents.

As the children grew older they began to develop wayward symptoms and finally reached the point where it was necessary to place them both in schools for incorrigibles. An investigation into the antecedents of the brother and sister disclosed the fact that they came of a long line of what has been tersely called "poor white trash." The mother of the children was the only decent or respectable person in this family for generations. They had all been lawbreakers, in one form or another—moonshiners, horse thieves, murderers. This case would tend to substantiate the claims of those who say that heredity is stronger than environment.

There is the large class where the children are many and the dollars few. The hard-worked, harassed mother does not have time to give more than superficial attention to each child. The father, of course, is only home in the evening and is either too tired from his day's labor, or too indifferent to lend much aid in the upbringing of his many offspring. Consequently these children live in the streets, they run wild and more often than not eventually get into mischief.

AMY LOWELL, CRITIC

The untimely death of Amy Lowell on May 12 is a severe loss to American literature. Although the newspaper jokesmiths may be expected to stop for a little while their witticisms about Miss Lowell out of mere respect for the dead, it is not likely whose environment has not been particularly conducive to an exemplary childhood, or who may be handicapped by hereditary tendencies. A number of years ago a couple of refinement but of moderate means adopted a brother and sister from an asylum in New York state. They reared these children as their own, and in fact the boy and girl did not know that they were not their own parents.

As the children grew older they began to develop wayward symptoms and finally reached the point where it was necessary to place them both in schools for incorrigibles. An investigation into the antecedents of the brother and sister disclosed the fact that they came of a long line of what has been tersely called "poor white trash." The mother of the children was the only decent or respectable person in this family for generations. They had all been lawbreakers, in one form or another—moonshiners, horse thieves, murderers. This case would tend to substantiate the claims of those who say that heredity is stronger than environment.

There is the large class where the children are many and the dollars few. The hard-worked, harassed mother does not have time to give more than superficial attention to each child. The father, of course, is only home in the evening and is either too tired from his day's labor, or too indifferent to lend much aid in the upbringing of his many offspring. Consequently these children live in the streets, they run wild and more often than not eventually get into mischief.

that they will take seriously the statement that her death is a great loss to American letters.

For to millions Amy Lowell is a joke and her memory will remain a joke for a generation to come in spite of anything that may be said in her behalf. A sort of myth has become current about her that she was a wild-eyed fanatic and that everything she wrote was gibberish. And it is the easiest thing imaginable to pick out detached lines or stanzas from her poems that appear ridiculous and that seem to mean absolutely nothing. That is a favorite pastime of those who do not like Amy Lowell's poetry. But it would be just as easy for the admirers of Miss Lowell to pick out detached passages from Browning or Shakespeare that mean nothing or seem to mean nothing and that, if taken by themselves, would serve to make the author of them ridiculous.

NOT ALL GREAT
It would be foolish to assert that all the poetry Amy Lowell wrote is great literature, but it is also true, for instance, that a large amount of her Wordsworth wrote, almost half of his output is too poor stuff to merit a second reading. But would it be reasonable on that account to deny genius to the author of the "Ode on the Intimations of Immortality"? Amy Lowell has written some poetry, a reasonably large percentage of her total output, that has a fair right to the title "great."

But in spite of that, it is likely that she will go down in American literary history rather as a critic than as a poet. The publication of "John Keats" in two large volumes only a few months before her death gave her a commanding place in American criticism but many years before that work appeared she gained an international reputation as a critic. As long ago as 1915 she won attention with a book of criticism called "Six French Poets" which showed that she was as familiar with the literature of France as with that of England and America. In 1917 came "Tendencies in Modern American Poetry," in which she set forth the new famous creed of the Imagist school of poetry and in which she gave a clear cut evaluation of the work of a number of contemporary poets and their relations to the Imagists. It is a book that for clarity of thought and mastery of her subject is worthy of the admiration of all who do not set their ideas about a writer like Amy Lowell at second hand but who are willing to find out for themselves what she is. And a few months ago came "John Keats" which even the hardened detractors of Amy Lowell's art have been forced to admire.

REPUTED A CRITIC
On those books of criticism and on numerous miscellaneous articles in a large variety of magazines Amy Lowell has built a sure reputation as a critic. I know of few literary critics now living in America who brought to their task a keener intelligence than did Amy Lowell and few there are who freer from the sin of mouthiness more empty phrases that sound like sense but that mean little or nothing. Whatever may be said about her poetry, her prose invariably and always makes sense and when she clashed with her detractors she almost always came out victorious, because nine times out of ten she knew more than her critics did and was talking from firsthand information while they were guessing. Amy Lowell was about as intelligent a literary worker as American possessed.

And it is rather remarkable that she gained her big reputation in the short space of 13 years. She published her first book in 1912 when she was 28 years old. Unknown 12 years ago she has for years been a writer of international reputation as well as the most ridiculed woman writer in America. I do not hesitate to repeat that her death is a great loss to American letters.

Rest Hour For Girls At Onaway

An interesting daily program has been planned by the directors of the Girl Scout and Campfire girl camp for the season of July 24-Aug. 14 at Onaway Island. Revelle each day will be at 7 o'clock, after which the girls may take calligraphy or a brisk morning dip to awaken them. Breakfast will be served at 7:45 and inspection of tents and personal appearance will occur at 9:15. An assembly of all girls in camp will be called at 9:30, at which announcements and instructions for the day will be given. This get-together hour means a good deal in the spirit of a camp, and does much to further cooperation and enthusiasm between councilors and campers. Swimming periods of the day are to be at 11:30 and at 4 o'clock, lasting for an hour. Dinner is served at 12:30 and supper at 5:30. Every girl in camp must take advantage of the rest hour which is provided for her between the hours of 1:30 and 2:30 each afternoon. The strenuous out of doors living and work makes such a nap a real necessity. The bath and new strength is to be built up, it is said. Spare time activities are given free rein for two hours every afternoon. In this period, the individual desires and inclinations of the girls are satisfied.

Perhaps the best time of the campers day is the hour around the camp fire every evening. The program for Onaway this year is so arranged that the program of the camp fire is divided into two periods, each suitable for girls of different ages. The first two weeks of the camp period will be devoted to girls of the high school age, and the last week is planned particularly for grade school girls. It would be wise for scouts and campfire girls to take this into consideration when they are deciding when to register for their outing.

DANCE PUPILS WILL APPEAR IN RECITAL

Miss Marie McCloskey will demonstrate the technique of dancing at the recital which her pupils are to give June 2 and 3 at Odd Fellow hall. The feature demonstration will be "What Makes a Dancer". This will be the latest dance recital ever given in Appleton. Miss McCloskey is the last person personally in two of her latest numbers, "Jazzmania" and "Butterfly." The recital is open to the public.

PARTIES

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kahler, 511 N. Drew-st., entertained 40 relatives and friends Thursday evening at a 6 o'clock dinner in honor of their tenth wedding anniversary. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Hardt and family, Neenah; Mrs. Ida Breaker and family, Neenah; Mr. and Mrs. August Engel, Neenah; Miss Verne Sheerin, Neenah; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thymer and family, Menasha; Mr. and Mrs. John Bartels and daughter, Appleton; Frederick Kahler, Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kahler, Appleton; Mrs. C. B. Owens and family, Appleton; and Mrs. Anna Breaker, Appleton. The evening was spent in playing games.

A program and box social will be held in the Twin Hollow school on the school section, road Tuesday evening, June 2. The public is invited to attend and ladies are expected to take boxes of lunch. Miss Phoebe Heenan is the teacher of the Twin Willow school.

Dr. and Mrs. Virgil B. Scott will entertain the members of the chorus choir of Memorial Presbyterian church at their home at 230 Oak-st Saturday evening. The evening will be spent playing games.

Mrs. Arthur Metzger, 507 N. Clark-st., entertained 24 girls at a miscellaneous show at her home Thursday evening. The guest of honor was Miss Emma Springy whose marriage occurred in June. The evening was spent playing cards, and prizes at cards were won by Miss Doris Waltman and Miss Rose Wajensky.

Henry Staedt will give an old-fashioned party to a large number of friends at 8 o'clock Friday evening in Eagle hall. Arthur Schultz orchestra of this city will furnish music.

Miss Edna Schultz entertained five couples Thursday evening at Womans club playhouse. The evening was spent in dancing and playing games. The chaperones for the young people were Miss Rose Wajensky, Mrs. Paul Anklin, and Mrs. Max Leeper.

About 20 couples attended the dance given Thursday evening by the local union of carpenters in Trades and Labor hall. The committee on arrangements included John Mielke, Hubert Stach, and C. Rehbein.

CARD PARTIES

Twelve tables of cards were in play at the first of the series of card parties which are being given by the Ladies Aid society of St. Joseph church in St. Joseph hall. The parties are being given each Thursday afternoon at 2:30. Prizes at checkers were won by Mrs. Catherine Hollenbeck and Mrs. William Merkel. Trum-sack prizes were won by Mrs. Peter Dohr and Mrs. Bahtz.

FAREWELL FOR DEAN OF WOMEN AT LAWRENCE

The Woman's Self Government association of Lawrence College held a reception Thursday afternoon in Carl J. Waterman's studio from 4 to 5:30. The affair was given in honor of Miss Mary Louise Brown, dean of women of Lawrence, who leaves to be at American University of Washington, D. C. next year.

Miss Katherine Jones of Peabody hall gave two piano selections as part of the program of the afternoon. Miss Agnes Peterson of Ormsby hall wrote a poem, which Miss Gertrude Walton, president of the association, read, presenting a silver tea service to Miss Brown on behalf of the association. Miss Brown replied with a short talk to the girls.

DAVIS ELECTED TO HEAD LOCAL DE MOLAY BOYS

Donald Davis was elected master councilor at the business meeting of John F. Rose chapter, Order of De Molay, Thursday evening in Masonic temple. Other officers are: Donald Hyde, junior councilor; Douglas Hyde, junior councilor; Lawrence Voss, scribe.

At the meeting next Thursday evening, DeMolay degree will be conferred. Installation of officers will occur at this time, and the Oshkosh chapter of the order will probably perform the installation ceremony.

LETTER FROM RUTH BURKE TO WALTER BURKE

I have read your letter over and over, my darling, and it has comforted me very very much while I wish you were here, for I am in such a mix-up.

Yesterday I received a letter from Sally Atherton in which she told me that John Prescott was drinking very hard; in fact she did not think that he had gone to bed one night sober since Leslie came over to Atlantic City. She wanted me to tell this to Leslie.

Mrs. Atherton is an old girlhood friend of Leslie's but since her marriage Sally has been very busy earning her living, you know, and they have grown apart. Leslie, however, got Sally her position with her husband and Mrs. Atherton is very grateful for her for this. They are very fond of each other, I think. Personally I never cared very much for Mrs. Atherton. She has always seemed to me to be a woman of strong impulses who might sometimes find that they had overruled her hard business head. She is particularly ambitious and her married life was so unfortunate that she seems to feel that no man on earth has heard her acknowledge that her life would be very miserable if it were not for the opposite sex. "They are amusing," she says with a shrug of her shoulders.

I must say, however, that in this case she has shown a sense of responsibility about the Hamilton. I have heard her acknowledge for Leslie of which I thought her selfishly incapable. She wanted me, as you will see by the letter which I am sending you, to tell Leslie all about Jack. I tried to do this this morning and found that some one of his friends last night after 12 o'clock had called her up by telephone and told her in a drunken voice what a "good fellow" John Alden Prescott was.

He asked Leslie if she really appreciated her husband. Said he was the only man he had ever known who after marriage did not give old friends the go-by.

Honestly, Walter, it was awfully funny. To hear Leslie tell it you would be convulsed. Even she herself had to laugh, but she ended with a sob.

"What shall I do?" she asked when she told me that, when Jack had come to the phone after she had listened to this drunken harangue, she told her husband she hated him and all his friends.

"He laughed at me, Ruth. He laughed at me and asked me if I had no sense of humor. I defy any woman to see any humor in being called up at 12 o'clock at night to listen to the drunken maudlin talk of a man whose only excuse was that he was a friend of her husband's."

"I insisted that Jack should be called to the phone and then I politely told him what I thought of him and hung off. I think, Ruth dear, that every other woman in the world would have done the same as I if she had any self-respect whatever."

Bible Tales Are Acted In Pageant

Scenes from the Bible that are the most renowned and well known are lived over again and interpreted in the pageant, "The Lamp," which will be presented by the young people of the First Congregational church at 7:30 Sunday evening. The public is invited to attend and witness this lesson in the value of religious education.

Three young people will take leading parts in the pageant. Miss Ramona Fox will represent Religious Education. Harry Leith, the youth seeking new understanding and Miss Marjorie Davis, the maiden. There are seven principal episodes, with a total of about 100 persons appearing in them in costume.

In the first part the youth and the maiden, in their search for new light on the "old page" arrive at the "hall of the book" and are guided by Religious Education in their understanding of conditions and needs, and in making their life choices.

Light on the "new page" is portrayed in the second part, where scenes from the New Testament are reproduced. They are riveted and interpreted as in the lives of Christian people of today. The episodes are: The first Christmas, the birth of today, feeding of the multitude, helpers of today, the wise and foolish virgins, virgins of today, and the talents.

Faithful servants of today and yesterday are shown in the interlude and part three depicts the "triumph of light." Life's choice, made early, is a hard one to adopt but brings its reward, according to the teachings of the pageant. Duty becomes joy, humility becomes honor, sacrifice is changed to victory and struggle to peace.

Musical numbers accompanying the pageant are a prelude, "The Swan" (Stebbins) and the postlude, "Processional March" (Goldardi). Miss Mary B. Stevens, assistant pastor, is directing the production.

LODGE NEWS

The last meeting of the year was held by Knights of Pythias Thursday evening in Castle hall. About 200 persons attended the last concert of the Beethoven Club of Lawrence Conservatory of Music on Thursday evening in Peabody hall. Professor Ludolph Arens, who founded the club, will not be with the conservatory next year, but will be continuing his work in Europe.

Dorothy Murphy will be president of the club for the coming year. Other officers will be Marion Huxtable, secretary; Miss Anne Thomas, treasurer; Margaret Engler, recording secretary.

Those who took part in Thursday evening's program were Marion Huxtable, Dorothy Smith, Wenzel Albrecht, Nora Stewart, Carlos Mullen, Professor Arens, Dorothy Murphy, Fullinwider ensemble, Isabel Wilcox, Miriam Peabody, and Catherine Russell. The accompanists were Mrs. Nettie Fullinwider and Miss Viola Buntrock.

RURAL CARRIERS HELP DECORATE WAR GRAVES

Rural carriers Friday were doing their share toward honoring the soldiers who fell defending their country by distributing wreaths and flowers furnished by the G. A. R. to people in the Appleton district who will place them on the graves of veterans. In some cases the carriers themselves placed the flags and pennants so that none might be neglected. This work has had the approval of postal authorities for many years.

"My dear - simply perfect!"

Yes, perfect every time and it keeps fresh for days . . . for now I use only the new Kitchen-tested Cake Flour!

Don't say you cannot make a cake. It is easy. If you tried and failed—probably your flour was to blame. It takes a special kind of fine, plump wheat—with a tender, pliable gluten—to make good cake flour.

But even the best flour may play tricks—unless it is Kitchen-tested. That is why in our big kitchens we test every single batch of the new Gold Medal Cake Flour. That is why—every time—you can make such remarkably good cake.

My staff and I bake cakes continuously. From every batch of Gold Medal Cake Flour made. Every cake we make must pass 3 tests. It must be perfect—light, tender, delicious. Every cake must be as good as the one before. Every cake must keep its original freshness 3 whole days.

This new cake flour, madam, Kitchen-tested—to give you a perfect cake every time—one that stays fresh 3 whole days. Try it for your own delight. Just 'phone your grocer for a package now.

KAUKAUNA BALL STARS
BOOK 2 GAMES FOR WEEK

Kaukauna—A baseball team of north side young men organized under the name Andrews Oils, have booked two games for this weekend. Saturday, Memorial day the team will travel to Reedsville to engage in a holiday battle with the city team. For Sunday's pastime the team will play the De Pere city team on the local grounds. Sunday's game is scheduled to begin about 2:30.

Andrews Oils, the team, will perform in the backstop position. Killgas and Klister will alternate on the mound during the two day toll. Other members of the team are: Brautigan, second base; Art Francols, third base; Kavanagh, short stop; Howard Egan, left field; Gregory Muel, center field; Dreger and Vaneehoven, right field. Killgas and Klister take turns between the mound and first base.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM AT CHURCH SERVICE

Kaukauna—A patriotic service will be conducted at 7:30 Sunday evening in Brokaw Methodist church. The program will consist mostly of songs from American sources. A medley of Civil war melodies including "Swing Low, Swing Low," "Just Before the Battle," and "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," will be played on the new pipe organ as a prelude.

A vocal duet, "Song to the Flag," will be sung by Mrs. W. O. Knox and Mrs. G. S. Brenzel after which an organ selection of World War melodies will be played during offertory. The medley will include such songs as "Joan of Arc," "There's a Long, Long Trail," and "The We Meet Again."

The mixed quartet and chorus will sing "The Dear Old Flag" after which the Rev. W. P. Hulen, pastor, will deliver an address entitled "Let Us Forget." The postlude will be an organ selection including such songs as "America," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," "The Star Spangled Banner."

TWILIGHT LEAGUE IS OFF TO GOOD START

Kaukauna—The city twilight league opened Tuesday evening with a game between the T. M. C. A. Cubs and the Royals. Six teams have entered the league and games are played Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Due to the failure of the league to have its team organized the Cubs played in their place Thursday evening and whipped the Thilmany crew 11 to 0. The first game ended 10 to 1 in favor of the Cubs. Wednesday evening the City Electricians nosed out the Shops 6 to 4 in an interesting battle.

All games thus far have been featured by good pitching. The Cubs garnered only five hits in their first game and scored 10 runs and in its second game scored 11 runs on four hits.

EXPECT 100 MEN WILL GO TO H. N. MEETING

Kaukauna—Between seventy-five and one hundred men from this city, representing the Holy Name societies of St. Mary and Holy Cross churches will go to Marinette Sunday to attend the district rally in session there afternoon and evening. Both local parishes have strong Holy Name organizations. There are no special named delegates. Most of the men expect to make the trip in cars.

VETS TO RALLY
MEMORIAL DAY

H. J. Pettigrew, Appleton, Will Speak at Program Scheduled at 9 O'clock

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—H. J. Pettigrew, Appleton, will be the chief speaker at the Memorial day celebration to be held in this city Saturday.

The Memorial day program will commence at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, when Spanish-American war veterans, Ladies' Auxiliary, American Legion members, Boy Scouts, Drum Corps, Color Guard and Firing Squad will assemble at the intersection of Spring and S. Pearl-sts., to form the annual Memorial day parade.

The line of march will then proceed to the Odd Fellow building, where it will be joined by the G. A. R. veterans and the Womens Relief corps. Thence the parade will leave for the Grand theater, where the scheduled program will be carried out.

The parade will be resumed following the program at the corner of Beaver-ave and Wymant-st., from where it will go to the Catholic cemetery, where a final tribute will be paid over the grave of Theodore Schaller of the late World war.

The Womens' Relief corps will maintain a nursery at the Davis millinery, where mothers may leave their children while attending the program.

Automobiles, for use between 11 o'clock in the morning and 12:30 o'clock in the afternoon, are being solicited by the American Legion for transporting people to the cemetery.

JUNIORS AWARDED 1925
MEMORIAL SPIRIT CUP

New London—The Memorial Spirit cup, of the local high school, was awarded to the junior class, during the last general assembly of the school Thursday morning. This is the first time the cup has been awarded. It was a memorial of the class of 1924.

Out of a possible 200 points in winning the trophy, the juniors scored 160 points, lacking only 40 of being perfect. The senior class came next, with 145 points, and the two lower classes tied, with 25.

The juniors won first place for their representation in football debate, basketball, and declamatory contests and ranked high in all others. The seniors scored first in oratory, class spirit, and in athletic and forensic associations. The sophomores received no firsts, but their seconds made them tie with the freshmen, who received first in orchestra and band.

Oneida.—Memorial day will be observed at Oneida. The band will lead the procession at 9 o'clock from the Methodist Episcopal church to the cemetery. After the decoration of the graves a short program will be given in the cemetery if weather permits; otherwise in the church. Lieut. Col. Frank J. Schneller of Neenah will be the speaker of the day. In the afternoon a program will be given at parish hall of the Episcopal church. Miss Fern Hill, one of the teachers there, will be in charge of the musical program and Col. Schneller will speak there also.

Next Sunday will be "dollar day" at the Methodist Episcopal church. Large crowds are wanted and a dollar for each person present.

Friday evening of last week the Wide Awake club held a debate at Epworth hall on the subject, Resolved that the Women Should Build Fires Morning. Fred Bennett and Joel Cornelius upheld the affirmative and Mrs. J. S. Whiting and Mrs. Walter Breaker the negative. The negative won.

Last Sunday morning at the Methodist Episcopal church was Memorial Sunday for the soldiers. The pastor preached the sermon. The evening service was a baccalaureate service for the graduates of various local schools. After the funeral of Mr. Metoken a memorial service of ministers and their families was held at his grave and near the tomb of other local preachers buried there, and then at the grave of a minister's daughter.

Saturday evening, May 31, the Ladies Aid society will serve supper at Epworth hall at 8:30. At the same time the Wide Awake club will entertain the soldiers and their wives.

STAGE And SCREEN

VALLI'S LATEST HAS BEAUTIFUL FEATURES

Splendid gowns, costly jewels and a unique invention coupled to a good cast are a few of the ingredients which Edward S. Galt has injected into the Universal-Jewel feature, "Up the Ladder," starring Virginia Valli, and coming to the Elite theatre Saturday and Sunday.

As a director S. Galt is nationally known as one who is capable of getting the most out of his vehicle. In "Up the Ladder," S. Galt has a number of interesting dramatic problems to wrestle with.

"Up the Ladder," is the screen version of Owen Davis' great stage story of the same name and the story revolves around a young woman, played by Miss Valli, who twice sacrifices everything she has in the world, that her husband, played by Forrest Stanley, may climb "Up the Ladder," to fame and fortune.

Take for instance, the scene in which Henry MacFarlane, the banker is shot, and David Keith in order to shield the girl he loves, tells the police that he has been the murderer. Or that breath-taking moment when Katherine Keith creeps along a narrow ledge high up on a building that she may enter a hotel room and find a letter which can prove her brother's innocence. Or again—her flight in the taxicab through the crowded streets. Or the wreck of the Arizona Express on the bridge that has been partly demolished by the floods. Take any one of these stirring scenes and you have material enough for a good picture. But Lincoln J. Carter is not content to satisfy his audience—he wants to hold every person spellbound throughout every minute of his picture. And he does. "The Arizona Express" is just one long, ecstatic thrill from start to finish.

UNIQUE THRILLS IN CARTER
DRAMA

Typically a Lincoln J. Carter picture, the Fox version of "The Arizona Express," at the New Bijou Theatre today and Saturday, is a work of art. The romance of the rails, with falling bridges, rushing floods, and smiling mail car bandits, is woven into every foot of the picture so logically that one is carried away by the thrills. Take for instance, the scene in which Henry MacFarlane, the banker is shot, and David Keith in order to shield the girl he loves, tells the police that he has been the murderer. Or that breath-taking moment when Katherine Keith creeps along a narrow ledge high up on a building that she may enter a hotel room and find a letter which can prove her brother's innocence. THREE BROTHERS SERVED IN WAR

Aged Menasha Man Is One of Unique Trio of Civil War
Veterans

Menasha—Chester Felch of Menasha, who makes his home with his daughter, Mrs. William Egan, 320 Chute-st., and his two brothers, Charles of Cadott and John of Winfield, form a most remarkable group of civil war veterans.

With their brother Edward who died several years ago they ran away to war from their home in Waupaca, so when mere boys and they all experienced trouble in getting into service because of their youthful age. George, the youngest brother, who resides at Plainfield, was only a few years old at the time and was the only member of the family to remain with the parents.

The boys were separated during the war and participated in many of the important battles. They escaped injury however and returned home at the close of the war without a scratch.

Chester, Charles and John are each more than 80 years old. So far as they know they constitute the only surviving trio of brothers who saw service in the civil war. At present Charles is critically ill at his home at Cadott. Edward lived to quite an advanced age.

SOCIAL ITEMS AT MENASHA

Menasha—A group of more than 20 friends, composed principally of employees of the Orpheum and Neenah theaters surprised Mr. and Mrs. George Weiss, the former organist at the Orpheum theater, at their new Beach grocery store on the shore of Lake Winnebago Thursday evening. Dancing, games and music provided entertainment. Mr. Weiss will hold the formal opening of his new store on Memorial day.

The Women's Catholic Order of Foresters held a meeting Thursday evening which was devoted principally to routine business.

The Ladies initiated a class of five candidates at their meeting Thursday evening which closed the fiscal year. The business session was followed by a lunch and smoker.

The Women's Catholic Order of Foresters held a business session Thursday evening which was devoted principally to routine business. A social followed at which schafkopf, bridge and whist were played. The next meeting on Thursday evening, June 11, was dispensed with because of a play to be given that evening, by the pupils of St. Mary school.

TRACTION COMPANY IS REPAIRING ITS TRACKS

Menasha—The crew of trackmen of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power company, who has been engaged in repairing the track on Tayco, Main and Racine-sts for the last two or three weeks will complete their work early next week. Special to Post-Crescent
Fremont—The teachers for the 1925-26 term of the local graded and junior high school have been hired by the school board. Miss Cora Iverson, who is teaching at Sheridan, will teach the primary department consisting of the first, second and third grades. Miss Margaret Goe of Oshkosh has been reengaged for the fourth, fifth, sixth and a part of the seventh grade and the freshman and sophomore classes. There is no eighth grade next year and there was no seventh grade this year, due to promotions because of the small number of pupils.

The following were school visitors last week: Mrs. H. E. Redeman, Mrs. Charles F. Rehling and Mrs. R. F. Schuler.

Beginning with the last Sunday of this month, May 31, there will be a change in the schedule of services at the Lutheran church.

German services will be held from 9 o'clock until 10:30 in the forenoon, and English services from 10:45 until 11:45. These services will be held every Sunday.

The Women's Improvement club entertained members of the grade and junior high school faculties at Mrs. H. Johnson's home, Thursday evening, May 21. A supper was served at 6:30. Progressive clinch provided the entertainment. Arnold Sader and Mrs. Edwin Sherburne won first prizes, and George Dobbins and Mrs. E. J. Sader took consolation favors.

The grammar grade, junior high school pupils and their teachers held a vesper and marshmallow roast at Red Banks, a resort on the Wolf river two miles north of town, Wednesday afternoon of last week after school.

Six pupils are included in the eighth grade graduating class of Fremont graded school this year, and diplomas were presented to them at commencement exercises Wednesday afternoon in the Dewart hall. A program including class exercises was given. Members of the graduating class are Evelyn Arndt, Clara Billington, Robert Billington, Max Jassman, Virginia Schliebe, and Lucille Sherburne.

Fremont baseball team won from the Beyer Sentinels of Appleton at Fremont Sunday afternoon. The game was not very interesting, and the scores were made on errors, resulting in a 3 to 2 score. The next scheduled game for the home team is with Omro on Memorial day, May 30.

An accident occurred on the road toward Readfield, three miles east of town Sunday forenoon when a stranger with a Ford coupe smashed into an electric light pole severing it near the ground. The windshield of the car was broken, the front damaged and an axle bent. The occupant was slightly injured.

The motion picture show at the Dewart hall Saturday evening, "The Storm Daughter," was well attended. Another picture is scheduled for May 30.

Modern Woodman camp held its semi-monthly business at the village hall Friday evening, May 22.

A motion picture will be shown at the Dewart hall Friday evening by the Lutheran church.

NEENAH ROTARY CLUB RECEIVES ITS CHARTER

Three Hundred Rotarians Attend Charter Night Celebration in Valley Inn

Neenah—Charter No. 2013 was issued to Neenah Rotary club Thursday evening in the Valley Inn. One of the largest gatherings of business men in Neenah in a long time attended the meeting. Three hundred Rotarians from Appleton, Waupun, Sheboygan, Oshkosh, Sturgeon Bay, Two Rivers, Fond du Lac, Kaukauna, Manitowish, Green Bay, Stevens Point, Berlin, Clintonville, New London and Escanaba, Mich., were guests at a dinner which preceded an entertaining evening.

In presenting the charter to the newly organized club, composed of Neenah men of business, Lee Rasey, of Appleton district governor-elect, discussed the ideals of Rotary, and the honor of membership in a club which is composed of businessmen who get joy from their work. Loyalty also was touched upon by Mr. Rasey who said "if we are loyal and stand like the Roman guard of old, sword in hand ready to guard or protect, that's something to be worthy of."

"If we are loyal to our friends, loves and affections," he continued, "and loyal to ourselves and listen to the word of God, then we have some honor."

He explained that organization of a Rotary club in this city had been long in the making.

Neenah—A class of 30 members of the Equitable fraternal union of Antigo, will be initiated Monday night by the Neenah degree team. The local team accompanied by Orrin Thompson, supreme secretary, and Dio Dunham, will leave for the northern city Monday morning.

SPECIFY CONCRETE FOR CHERRY, RICHMOND-ST

ASPHALT VOTED AS PAVING TYPE ON LAWE STREET

Council Selects Types of Pavement to Be Used on City Streets This Year

Richmond-st, Cherry-st, State-st and Durkeest will be paved with reinforced concrete; Lawest, Meadest, Johnst and Batemanst with Warrenite bitulithic and the Lawest and Drowst hills with 2-inch vertical fibro brick, the city council voted Thursday evening. Scores of property owners attended the meeting and many of them expressed their preferences for types of pavement. Property holders were asked to state their preferences after the council had voted to file a number of signed petitions from residents without reading them, because many of the signers were known to have put their names on several petitions and others later admitted that they had signed without a clear understanding of the merits of the various types of pavement.

After the council had voted to pave Lawest with bitulithic, the Lawest hill with brick, Cherry and Richmond-sts with reinforced concrete and Meadest with bitulithic, it was found that in the resolution no specification had been made as to whether the bitulithic pavements were to be laid on concrete or on the present bases, and therefore action on Lawest and Meadest had to be rescinded and new resolutions adopted.

NO DISPUTES
In hearing the suggestions of property owners it was decided to consider Lawest first. The mayor cautioned all those who might wish to express their views that no disputes would be tolerated, and that the speakers must address themselves to the council.

J. T. Quinlan, district manager of the Wisconsin Telephone Co., requested permission to present his views, and when this had been granted declared himself strongly in favor of the bitulithic pavement, saying that this type was favored by the majority of Lake-st residents, although many of them had signed petitions for other types. These petitions, he said, meant little or nothing, for it was easy to secure signatures to almost any petition. "I will cite an instance of how little they mean," he said. "Mr. Dutcher, a Lawest resident, placed his signature under a petition for concrete pavement. When I discussed the matter with him he said that he favored the same type of pavement as on Union-st, which is asphalt. As soon as he understood what he had done he requested that his signature be disregarded on the concrete petition and authorized me to quote him as favoring asphalt, or bitulithic."

PRaises ENGINEER

Mr. Quinlan stated he had checked the specifications drawn up by the city engineer and wished to compliment Mr. Connelly on his thoroughness and efficiency. The specifications for Appleton pavements were more complete and thorough than those of Oshkosh, Green Bay and other cities, and the city engineer and council have the full confidence of Lawest residents. Mr. Quinlan stated, and the decision as to what type of pavement should be used should rest with them.

After Mr. Quinlan had finished a discussion arose as to what should be done with the signed petitions that had been presented to the council. Alderman Mike Steinhauer suggested that the frontage of property owned by the petitioners should be checked and regarded as decisive, but Alderman Charles Fosse said that in view of the fact that many names appeared on several petitions, this would not be fair. Then Alderman Steinhauer suggested that these names be disregarded entirely. Alderman Mark Catlin expressed the view that consideration of the petitions would be of no use, as very few people understood anything of pavements and had signed merely because they had been asked.

HEAR LOT OWNERS

"Let us hear men who are interested sufficiently to come here and attend the meeting," Mr. Catlin proposed. This suggestion was adopted by the council, and Mr. Quinlan repeated his expression of full confidence in the city engineer and council and stated again that he was willing to abide by their decision. J. D. Stenke also favored the bitulithic, but he wanted the best type of pavement if it was possible to get. He said that the fact that usually this type of pavement is considerably more expensive than other types and that it is much in demand in spite of that, is in its favor, and that in view of the low quotation made here it would be a good time to try it.

Charles E. McKenney also favored bitulithic, for the same reasons, but former Mayor August Knappell opposed it. Mr. Knappell stated that in his opinion concrete was the best and most durable type of pavement. W. F. Sackelstad said that he and other property owners had telephoned to many of the cities of the state and that all of them which had bitulithic pavements said these were very satisfactory. "A petition doesn't mean much," he said. "You can get signatures to anything. Mr. Quinlan was even able to get petitions for raising the telephone rates."

LINE BLACK TOP

Prof. Otto P. Fairfield and several other property owners on Lawest and Meadest also favored black top pavements, while Adam Remley, formerly city engineer, declared himself in favor of concrete but was willing "to be shown." Professor Fairfield stressed the advantage of

GIRL, CROSSING ROAD, KNOCKED DOWN BY CAR

Clara Vandenberg, 7-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Vandenberg of Rose Hill, was badly bruised Wednesday morning when she was struck by a coupe driven by Norbert Remter of Kaukauna in front of the Rose Hill grocery store. Mr. Remter stopped his car and took the child to the St. Elizabeth hospital at Appleton. She will be able to be taken to her home by Saturday.

The child had been sent across the road to the store and was struck by the Remter car when she ran out onto the highway on her way home.

COUNTY'S WORD ON PAVEMENT IS FINAL, CITY TOLD

Bosser Rules Highway Committee May Determine How County Money Shall Be Spent

"State and county highway commissions have the final word in deciding what types of pavements shall be put down on streets for which they grant aid," A. C. Bosser told the city council Thursday night. His opinion was requested by Alderman Charles Fosse in connection with the $20,000 county aid granted for Cherry and Richmond-sts. The statute in question, Mr. Bosser said, provides that the city may determine the type, width and location of pavement to be laid with state and county aid, but that this decision must have the approval of the state and county highway commissions.

Upon an inquiry from Alderman McGilgan, Attorney Bosser said that when the appropriation for the two streets in question was made, the county highway commission specified that concrete be used but mentioned no particular type of concrete pavement. He said that if the council desired to use any other type, the matter would have to be referred back to the county, or that in case the city made the change without first consulting the highway commission, all aid might be sacrificed.

Mayor John Goodland Jr., seeing A. G. Brueswitz, county highway commissioner, in the audience, requested his opinion as to the intentions of the county board in specifying concrete for Richmond and Cherry-sts, but Mr. Brueswitz was unable to give a definite answer. However, he said that he thought the county highway commission favored either concrete or bitulithic pavements, and then retired without committing himself.

Half Holiday at "Y"

Appleton Y. M. C. A. will be closed for a half-day Saturday, according to George F. Werner, general secretary. The building will be open in the morning and at night but will be closed from 1:30 to 6 p. m.

asphaltic pavements for the residential districts, saying that concrete was noisy and causes a glare on bright days. He said he would rather pay more for his pavement and have the best than to get off cheaply and be dissatisfied later. After a sample of the bitulithic pavement had been brought into the council chamber however, he stated that he preferred plain asphalt, as he considered the latter would be less noisy and harsh.

Joseph Weber who spoke for Richmond property owners said that the majority favored reinforced concrete and was backed by Anton Koehn, who said he was in favor of bitulithic personally, but found that most of the Richmond residents wanted concrete. Cherry-st was not represented, and neither were any of the other streets on the 1225 program.

After all arguments had been heard and a recess held to permit the city attorney to draft the proper resolutions, the types of pavements were put to a vote of the council by streets. The council voted, 8 to 4, in favor of reinforced concrete for Richmond-st from College-ave to Wisconsin-ave to Wisconsin-ave to Wisconsin-ave to Wisconsin-ave. Alderman Catlin, Thompson and Zillske opposed the concrete pavement in each instance while the others all were for it.

The vote for 2-inch vertical fibro brick on the Lawest hill and on the Drowst hill was unanimous. The vote on Lawest from E. Wisconsin-ave to E. Johnson-st favored bitulithic on a concrete base, 10 to 2. Alderman Richard and Steinhauer voting no. Alderman Richard was the only opponent to bitulithic on Johnson-st from Lawest to Meadest, on Meadest from College-ave to South-st, and on Bateman-st, while the remaining councilmen all voted for it and that type was adopted.

The vote for reinforced concrete on N. Durkeest from E. College-ave to Johnson-st and on N. State-st from W. College-ave to the railway was unanimous.

Contracts will not be awarded for pavements until after about four weeks. The board of public works first must assess benefits and damages to the adjoining property. Then ten days notice to property owners must be given and another interval of five days allowed for filing complaints, after which another council meeting must be held to award the contracts.

TORMENTORS TO PLAY MATINEE

Capacity House Is Assured for Night Performance of College Comedy

A special matinee performance of "Three Sheets to the Wind" will be played by the Tormentors at 2:30 Monday afternoon. The entire house for the evening performance is practically sold out, and the club was forced to play a matinee to satisfy all the demands for seats.

Much of the musical work of the 3-act comedy song and dance revue, was done by La Vahn Maesch of Appleton, a senior in the conservatory of music. Besides writing and composing a number of the musical numbers, Maesch had conducted the orchestra of twenty pieces which will accompany the songs and dances.

"Why" and "I Wonder," written by Maesch, should prove the feature numbers of the show. "I wonder" is a duet by Doris Aist and Earle Sherman, and "Why" features Sherman and his chorus of four dunces. The orchestra, under the direction of Maesch, will also present an overture before Act I. It is composed of Madge Helmer—piano; Wenzel Appbrecht—Oscar Hoh, Roberta Lantouette, Carl Engler—1st violin; Lorna O'Neill, Helen Meliss, Lewis Empson—2nd violin; Viola, Melvin Schneider—cello—Joseph Zickler; flute, Ethel Elmer; clarinet, A. Thompson; trumpet, Wenzel Albrecht, Richard Tuttrout alto saxophone, Robert Hipke, Burton Manser; tenor saxophone, Ben Vadsworth; bass, Bernard Behnke; drums and tympani, Lester Gurnee.

BIGGEST CLASS GETS DIPLOMAS

American Legion Medal to Be Awarded at High School Commencement Program

One hundred ninety-seven Appleton high school seniors will receive diplomas at commencement exercises to be held in Lawrence Memorial chapel at 8:15 Friday night. This is the largest class in the history of the school.

Diplomas will be presented by Lee C. Rasey who is closing his work as principal of the high school.

The valedictory address, Follow the Gleam, will be given by Miss Elizabeth Earle, and the salutatory address, To Succeed, is to be by Miss Ethel Radtke. George Hoefel is to talk on The Educational Crisis in Wisconsin.

The American Legion medal, offered to the best athlete and all around student in the school, will be awarded during the evening.

Musical numbers on the program are an organ prelude and postlude by Russell Hayton, a vocal solo by Carl McKee and a piano solo by Miss Miriam Peabody.

ONLY FEW DAYS LEFT TO SAVE INSURANCE

Service men who have allowed their war risk insurance to lapse are very slowly making advantage of their final opportunity to reinstate it, according to Alfred C. Bosser, service officer of Oney Johnston post of the American legion. June 1 is the time limit set for reinstatement, and all those who neglect to take advantage of this will be sorry in later years, according to Mr. Bosser. Any able bodied veteran may reinstate his policy or any part of it by complying with certain conditions. Mr. Bosser states. The service officer will furnish all information regarding reinstatement upon application.

NO MORE EXEMPTIONS TO OWNERS OF HOMES

Scores of taxpayers seeking to profit by the honest exemption law were turned away disappointed from the office of E. L. Williams, city clerk, Friday, because that law had been repealed by the state legislature and the repeal signed by Governor Blaine Thursday. It had been the practice of the city clerk to help taxpayers fill out application blanks for the exemption, but with the repeal of the law this practice is stopped.

MAIL CARRIERS GET REST ON MEMORIAL DAY

APPLETON TEAM IN NEW WISCONSIN BALL LEAGUE

Fox River Paper Co. Crew To Meet Strong Semi-pro Squads In Six-club Loop

Plymouth, Chilton, Fondy, Oshkosh, Campbellsport Place Clubs in E. W. B. L.

Fox River Paper Co. Baseball team of this city became one of the charter members of the new Eastern Wisconsin Baseball League at the organization meeting Thursday evening at the Hotel Redlow at Fond du Lac. Manager C. O. Baetz represented the local ball club. The loop is composed of six of the strongest semi-pro ball clubs in this part of the state, the Plymouth, Chilton, and Campbellsport city teams, Rupeing Leather Co. of Fondy, Carver Ice Cream Co. of Oshkosh, and the local squad, making up the membership. The teams will play Sunday and holiday ball. The object of the new loop is to play semi-pro ball of high calibre, meanwhile getting away from high-priced baseball. Every member of a team must be a home-town boy and each club is to pay its own traveling expenses and collect its own gate receipts when at home. The Appleton club will use Brandt park for home games.

Officers of the new loop are: E. Larsen, Plymouth, president; John Hume, Chilton, vice president; George La Fontaine, Fond du Lac, secretary and treasurer; Herr, an umpire in the Wisconsin State League last year, will be chief arbiter and other men behind the catcher will be Deuk and Schabo. Manager Baetz has already strengthened his crew for league ball by signing Dutch Sylvestor for an outfield berth and Doc Kolb, manager of the Reedsburg team last year, as a coach.

The league schedule follows: May 30—Plymouth at Campbellsport; Fondy at Oshkosh; Appleton at Chilton.

May 31—Campbellsport at Fondy; Oshkosh at Appleton; Chilton at Plymouth.

June 7—Plymouth at Chilton; Oshkosh at Campbellsport; Fondy at Appleton.

TWIN SIXES LEAD LOOP AS RESULT OF OLD PROTEST

Racine-Beloit Game, Played Under Protest, Must Be Replayed, Loop Prexy Says

Racine — President Alford of the Wisconsin State Baseball league Wednesday notified Manager Bert Calla of the Racine Athletics that the game played here on May 10 with Beloit and which was protested, will have to be replayed. No date has yet been set for the game.

According to the ruling made by Judge Alford the teams will have to present the same lineups they had in the May 10 game with Racine up in the fourth inning. There will be no outs. Charlie Jackson, who led off with a single, will be on first and Strong will be up to bat. Racine will have a one run lead. Blits having scored in the first inning on a double to center, Swetonic's long fly to right and Brenton's error.

The protest was registered because Strong hit a pop up which hit a corner of the plate. Buck Taylor, who was umpiring at the plate, calling it a foul so Strong did not run to first. Gravity threw the ball to second, which forced Jackson out there, and then Strong started for first, but was relayed out. Holloway to Hasbrook. Taylor reversed his decision, calling the pop a fair hit and both men were declared out.

This is the first time a protested game has been allowed in the loop, but all the fans expected Judge Alford would allow the protest, as Taylor had reversed a decision on a matter of judgment which did not give the Racine players a fair break. Just when the protested game will be replayed is not known but will be announced by club officials as soon as possible.

6 BELOIT TRACK STARS IN MIDWEST CONTESTS

Six Beloit college track men will represent the local school in the Midwest Conference Track and Field meet to be held at Hamline college, St. Paul, Minn. The meet is expected to be the fastest that from this year's Beloit squad only that number stand a chance of getting into the point column.

Beloit's squad probably will be composed of Capt. Nesbitt, McGill, Vandoloh, Vondrashek, Harper, Rogers, and perhaps Dupke. With only six men the Beloit can hope for is third or fourth place. Nesbitt is going to get lots of trouble in the dashes and may drop both of them. Vondrashek should be good for a couple of seconds McGill is a possibility in the high jump. Harper's consistency might put him with the best in the pole vault the does much better away from home having cleared 12 feet in the Milliken meet. Vandoloh will get into the scoring in the shot put and discus, and Rogers is looked for to score in the mile and two mile races.

NEW BROOKLYN PREXY

WILBERT ROBINSON

Meet the new president of the Brooklyn National League baseball team. He succeeds the late Charles H. Ebbets.

Robinson has been connected with professional diamond activities for the past 30 years and in his days as a player was regarded as a star catcher. His first assignment was with the old Athletics, American Association, in 1886. He later played with Baltimore and the St. Louis Cardinals and in 1902 was named Coach of the New York Giants, when John McGraw became the manager.

In 1924 Robinson was appointed pilot of the Dodgers and during his regime brought two pennants to the City of Churches, one in 1916 and the other four years later.

Chicago Cubs Wreck Trio Of Cincinnati Pitchers

New York—Weak pitching is hampering Cincinnati in its tussle to bring on the end of the first division.

Five pitchers were used by the Reds while the Cubs were winning 13 to 3 Thursday. A Chicagoan made a dozen runs in the seventh at the expense of three Red Twinklers, including Luque, who had held the Cubs to three hits for six innings.

The Giants shook off the jinx that tagged their stay in Boston by winning 8 to 6 over the Braves in the final of the series.

Pittsburg pounded out its fourth consecutive victory, beating the Cards at the opening of the series 7 to 4.

Philadelphia whacked the Senators 11 to 3, and 9 to 4 three Washington pitchers retreating under a heavy barrage in each game. The Mackmen now lead the American league by three games.

By dividing a double header with the Red Sox, the Yankees won the series, three games to two. Boston took the first game 3 to 1 and dropped the other 7 to 2.

Detroit nosed out the White Sox 7 to 5 after ten innings. Ben Karp's winning streak of five straight was snapped by the Browns, timely hits and during base running giving them a 4 to 3 decision over the Indians.

ROARING LIONS LOSE TOUGH TILT TO LEGION SQUAD

Errors in Final Frames Squeeze Out 7 to 5 Win for Soldiers in Pitchers Duel

STANDINGS	W	L	Pct

The question of "who is going to be the first team to beat the Legion?" was almost answered Thursday afternoon at Jones park, when Cartier, star Legion twirler, and Art Jensen, star Lion mound artist, hooked up in a pitchers battle that was only decided for the Legion by Lion errors in the final stretch. The final score was 7 to 5 for the Legion.

Both pitchers hurled fine ball and both teams fielded in great style until the closing frames. With the score at 5 all, the less experienced Lion infield was unable to stand the strain and three errors around the keystone sack turned the tide for the Legionnaires.

Two runs behind in the ninth, the Lions attempted a rally but a wonderful catch by "Les" Smith, Legion gardener, saved the day for the soldiers. Doc Harty picked a fast ball off his shoulder and sent it lumming into the trees and Les picked it off his toenails, robbing the big boy of a sure hit. Each team scored in the first inning and the Lions went ahead by a run in the third. They scored again in the fourth and things looked bad for the Legion until they cracked over two to tie in the last half. Two more Legion scores passed over the run in the fifth and the Lions tied the score at 5 all in the seventh. In the eighth and ninth Legion runs decided the game.

Pails Face Hard Battles At Southern Cities With 3-Man Pitching Staff

Lefty McCauley Leaves Club for Shreveport Southern League Ball Team

With Friday and Gould all set for the battles at Beloit and Racine over the weekend, the Menasha-Neeenah Pails put in their final flicks on Friday before embarking on the southern trip. Friday will face the Fairies and Gould, the Athletics and both boys have to go good, as Lefty McCauley, discouraged at his inability to win, has left the Pails for the Shreveport Southern League club. The old sawed ball club plays everyday ball and Lefty should hit his stride there, Lefty is a nice twirler, but the short fences in the Menasha park were a little too hard on him. Liewelyn will be the entire reserve pitching strength on the southern trip.

Wurth, former Pails second-sacker has returned from La Crosse with all traces of his eye trouble gone and probably will be able to turn in some real ball from now on. He returned when the old La Crosse shortstop came back to the club. Worden, a third baseman, probably will become the utility infielder if Pouch comes through the way he can.

Word from Racine indicated a tough game as Strong's crew lost a real battle to Kenosha in an exhibition game this week, 3 to 1, when Norman Pitt, Kenosha ace, outpitched Lefty Graham. King, left got a home run with one on in the ninth. A league meeting will be held at Kenosha Saturday night at which general conditions of the league will be looked into. Secretary Harry Gossett will represent the Pails.

Lineup: Legion—Stenard, Schabo, Smith, Mayer, Hartzell, Baetz, Bates, Rossmessli, Fries, Schultz, Horn and Cartier.

Lions—Williams, Connelly, Zwicker, Frayley, Agrell, Kamba, Jensen, Emme, Engel, Lindberg.

Classified Advertising

All ads are restricted to their proper classifications and to the regular Appleton Post-Crescent style of type. Daily rate per line for consecutive insertions:

Charges Cash
One day	12
Three days	30
Six days	50
Minimum charge, 60c.

Advertisements for irregular insertions take the same rate as for regular insertions, but no charge for less than a full line. Count 5 average words to a line.

Charged ads will be received by telephone and if paid at office within six days from the first day of insertion cash rate will be allowed.

Ads ordered for three days or six days and stopped before expiration will only be charged for the number of times the ad appeared and adjustment made at the rate earned.

Special rates for yearly advertising upon request.

Publishers reserve the right to edit or reject any classified advertising copy. Telephone 64, ask for Ad. Taker.

The following classification headings appear in this newspaper in the numerical order here given, closely allied classifications being grouped together.

"Here's Your Party!"

You don't want to have anything to do with the other thousands of telephone subscribers when you're calling some particular number. They don't figure in your communication at all.

And when you're looking for a better position, there's no use getting in touch with dozens of employers who are not in a position to hire you.

There's just one man - your future boss - that you want to reach. You can get connected with HIM through the Post-Crescent's Situations Wanted columns.

By a process of elimination your little ad, telling about yourself and your training, will be considered only by the employers who are looking for your sort of worker. You don't know who they are now - the one man you're going to work for is - but your Post-Crescent ad will find out for you. Stop at the office and talk things over with an ad-taker.

STOPPED FOR SAFETY BUT HAD CRASH ANYWAY

It did Walter Plamann, 204 E. College-ave., little good to stop his automobile Thursday afternoon while crossing W. College-ave. to prevent a collision, because his car was struck anyway. The other driver was Miss Plank of Hortonville, and the only consequences were bent fenders on both machines.

Mr. Plamann was proceeding onto W. College-ave from S. Appleton-st. stopped at the intersection and then drove into the avenue. Miss Plank was going west and when Mr. Plamann perceived her coming, he made a second stop. The woman did not turn out far enough to clear the plamann car and struck it. The accident happened at 1.15 in the afternoon.

UNVEILING OF

G. A. R. SHAFT

DAY'S FEATURE

Final Details Are Arranged for

Observance of Memorial

Day Here Tomorrow

Organizations that will march in the Memorial day parade Saturday will start to assemble at the various points designated by the committee in charge at 12:45 P. M., so that they will be ready to march to Lawrence Memorial chapel for the program there at 1:45, according to an announcement by the committee. They will march to the chapel at 1:30, fall out, and immediately after the program, reform for the parade to Riverside cemetery. After the unveiling of the G. A. R. memorial at the G. A. R. plot, the organizations will reform once more and march to the river bank, where the services for sailors and marines will complete the day's program.

The police escort which will lead the parade will assemble on College-ave. at the intersection of the street with the 12th Field Artillery band the color guard with the colors will fall in immediately behind the police escort, while Co. D of the 12th Infantry will form at Armory G.

Charles O. Baer camp of the United Spanish-American war veterans will lead the veterans in the parade. They will assemble in front of the Presbyterian church on the north side of E. College-ave. and will be followed by their auxiliary, which will assemble at the same place. Then will come Oney Johnston post of the American legion with its saxophone band, assembling on Durkee-st. south of College-ave. with the head of their column on College-ave.

The speakers' car bearing John Goodland Jr., president of the day, Dr. Virgil B. Scott, chaplain of the day and Gustave Keller Sr., Herman Brockhaus, Raymond Peterson, commander of Oney Johnston post, Vilas H. Whaley, past commander of the Wisconsin department of the American legion and J. D. Hanckel, will start from the intersection with College-ave. at the intersection with College-ave. The singers' car will follow, and then the cars bearing G. A. R. members, which will start from in front of the I. O. O. F. building on E. College-ave. The Women's Relief corps will follow, and the J. T. Reeve circle will form with the G. A. R. in cars, and the Boy and Girl Scouts of America will bring up the rear.

Mayor John Goodland Jr., as president of the day, will give the opening address in Lawrence Memorial chapel, followed by a selection by the artillery band. Following the singing of America in which the audience will join, the Rev. Virgil B. Scott, chaplain of the day, will render the invocation.

Michael Glasheen, former treasurer of Reculieu Hill school, town of Bunn, who has been found guilty of embezzling funds from the school, will carry his case to the supreme court, it was announced Friday afternoon by his attorney, Thomas H. Ryan of this city. The appeal to the higher court will be made on a writ of error.

Glasheen appeared in municipal court Friday morning to receive sentence, which was deferred when he was found guilty by a jury last week. He asked for an adjournment and this was granted until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. He is at liberty on $1,000 bond. He had been found guilty of the charge in February but an error in the court records at that time gave him another chance.

Little damage was done to the fruit and crops of Outagamie-co. by the recent cold and weather, according to R. A. Amundson, county agricultural agent. A few strawberries were ruined but the loss was not extensive. Of the tree fruits, only the cherries suffered and the damage was slight. None of the crops were far enough along to be injured, but some of the early corn was rotted by the cold rains and some of it was drowned out, Mr. Amundson said.

After the column has reformed and marched to Riverside cemetery along the route mapped out by Hugh Pomery, marshal of the day, the various organizations will be posted about the cemetery and the legion saxophone band will begin the ceremony there.

The dedicatory address will be given by Vilas H. Whaley, past commander of the state department of the American legion, after which J. D. Hanckel will make the speech of acceptance for the G. A. R. This will be followed by the usual G. A. R. memorial day ceremony and the salute to the fallen soldier.

The saxophone band will accompany the bugler in blowing taps, and after the artillery band has played the Star Spangled Banner and the chaplain of the day given his benediction, the organizations will reform once more and march to the river bank for the ceremony in honor of the sailors and marines.

Members of the Women's auxiliary of the American legion, have changed their custom this year as to the Memorial day parade. Instead of marching through the downtown section with the military contingents, the women will assemble at E. College-ave and N. Park-ave and stand in line there until the parade has passed. They will fall in at the end of the column and march into Lawrence Memorial chapel for the program.

200 Rural School Pupils

In Annual Field Contests

More than 200 pupils of Outagamie-co. rural schools and their parents and friends arrived in Appleton Friday to take part in the county track and field meet which was to be held at Lawrence field. Pupils of the two department state graded schools were eligible for competition. The individual point winner will receive the Outagamie-co. Trophy cup awarded by the Post-Crescent and the school scoring the highest number of points will receive the Post-Crescent Trophy cup. Badges will be given to the winners of first, second and third places and the winning relay team will receive a pennant.

The meet started at 10:30 a. m. with the tug of war for boys and tug of war for girls. This was followed by a group game called "forty ways of getting there." The next events on the program were a ladies' ball driving contest, community games and contests and a special 75-yard dash for teachers. From 12:30 to 1:30 a picnic dinner was served after which the real events for the pupils were to begin. The following events were to be run: 100-yard dash, 200-yard dash, 400-yard dash, 800-yard dash, 1,600 and 3,200 yard dash, 500-yard relay race, for girls—75 yard dash, standing broad jump, baseball throw for distance, basketball throw for distance and 440-yard relay.

He asked for an adjournment and this was granted until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. He is at liberty on $1,000 bond. He had been found guilty of the charge in February but an error in the court records at that time gave him another chance.

Little damage was done to the fruit and crops of Outagamie-co. by the recent cold and weather, according to R. A. Amundson, county agricultural agent. A few strawberries were ruined but the loss was not extensive. Of the tree fruits, only the cherries suffered and the damage was slight. None of the crops were far enough along to be injured, but some of the early corn was rotted by the cold rains and some of it was drowned out, Mr. Amundson said.

After the column has reformed and marched to Riverside cemetery along the route mapped out by Hugh Pomery, marshal of the day, the various organizations will be posted about the cemetery and the legion saxophone band will begin the ceremony there.

The dedicatory address will be given by Vilas H. Whaley, past commander of the state department of the American legion, after which J. D. Hanckel will make the speech of acceptance for the G. A. R. This will be followed by the usual G. A. R. memorial day ceremony and the salute to the fallen soldier.

The saxophone band will accompany the bugler in blowing taps, and after the artillery band has played the Star Sp

NOTE SCARCITY OF DESIRABLE HOMES FOR RENT

Slump in Home Building and Arrival of More Families
Has Caused Shortage

As was expected by real estate men, last year's decrease in the number of new residences had an almost immediate effect upon the supply of available rent houses this year.

While some real estate agents declare they see little change in the rental situation since last fall, others assert that the shortage of houses is more acute, if anything.

The housing shortage is not to be compared with the situation immediately following the World war, it is true, for that has been improved considerably by the building of some 500 or 600 new houses within the last three years.

Last year, however, witnessed a decided falling off in the number of new houses built. After the building boom of approximately 255 new residences for each of the two preceding years, 1922 and 1923, all that the records of the city building inspector could show last year was 147.

LESS MOVING

The usual spurt in spring moving was not so noticeable this spring as in other years. An open winter was responsible for more moving in those months than is customary. This spring, finds most tenants sitting tight, and when they find an opening, they prefer to pass it up, unless it is a very desirable one.

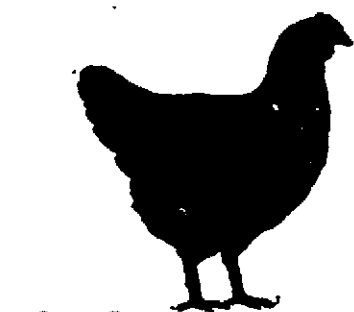

"There is very sharp demand for desirable rent houses," said Daniel P. Steinberg, realtor. "Most of the few vacancies that occurred this spring were not of the quality that will satisfy many tenants. A desirable home is never vacant, for when a tenant decides to move, a successor often is found even before the day of the moving. Houses of a cheap grade and offering a low rental will stand vacant until some one, for lack of finding something better, is forced to take it. I know there are some houses renting as low as $25 a month. Workmen's families who really can't afford even that amount will pass it up and take a more expensive house, for they are used to something better. They will pay beyond what their salary permits and then, probably, make it up by economizing in something else. The average man wants home comforts and usually is willing to pay for them."

MORE FAMILIES HERE

R. F. Shepherd reports that in addition to the falling off in the house building last year, a large number of new families have taken up their residence in Appleton during the last few months. This has helped to make the available homes more scarce. There is no trouble, whatever, in procuring a tenant, he said. One insertion in the advertising columns of a newspaper brings overwhelming responses. In some instances, owners don't even take the trouble to advertise, as they pick their tenants before the house is actually vacant.

Edward P. Alesch of the Alesch Insurance and Realty Co., cited an example of how great is the rush for homes. He had inserted an advertisement in the Appleton Post-Crescent. From the hour that paper was delivered that evening up to noon the following day, there were 48 telephone calls. It was a house renting for $50 a month. Had the rental been very high below that amount, the rush would not have been so great, he believes. Also, had it been in excess of that fewer calls would have resulted, as the number that can afford to pay more will not.

The class has been studying mental disorders of various types and the methods of psychoanalysis during the past quarter.

THE PEOPLE'S AID

Is it the intention of the city to establish more tennis courts here this summer? What few are available are in such constant demand that many people are deprived of a chance to play. I would like to see one or two courts placed in Erb park for people of the north end of the city. Perhaps grass courts could be provided temporarily, one of the essentials being proper back fences.

M. L. Park board officials declare that this is one of the matters that will be taken up at the next meeting. The principal effort this year will be placed on improvement of Pierce park, but the board will do all it can to serve the interests of each community.

put up with renting but will own their own homes.

Real estate agents agree that there is no change in the rentals since last fall. Falling prices and cost of labor are still at the same level, and thus tend to hold down the number of building projects and, this in the last analysis, also governs the rentals.

1,200 MEMBERS IN Y. M. C. A. IN YEAR JUST ENDED

Annual Report of Association
Shows Extent of Its Service to Members

Appleton Y. M. C. A. had a total of 1,210 members at the end of the association year on April 30, 1925, according to the annual report issued this week. Of this number, 332 were men and 278 were boys. A total of 100 men and 75 boys served on committees during the period. Employment service was given to 335 men and 59 boys.

A series of social events and entertainments during the year accommodated 169 members. A total of 47 men and 81 boys attended the social events and 12 men and 29 boys were present at the entertainments. Bible classes attracted a large number of the members. The men had one Bible class with an enrollment of 20 and the total attendance was 108. The boys had nine classes with an enrollment of 126. Their total attendance for the year reached 2,408. Training and discussion groups drew an attendance of 1,150 boys during the year and Sunday meetings drew 1,713 men and boys, 12 men's meetings drawing 393 men and 22 boys' meetings drawing 1,320 boys. Other religious meetings such as gospel teams, etc., showed an attendance of 31 men and 32 boys. A series of eight shop meetings accommodated 277 employees during the year.

Lectures and practical talks were attended by 52 members, 39 of whom were boys. Boys in educational clubs totaled 180 as compared with 50 men, a total of 230 members. Employment was secured for 250 industrial workers.

Members entitled to use the physical department totaled 353, of which

COURT WON'T DROP EMBEZZLEMENT CASE

Although the Langstadt-Meyer Co. has agreed to settle out of court, Judge H. M. Fellenz of Fond du Lac has refused to dismiss the embezzlement case against Ed Mulrony, charged with misappropriating funds of the company while he was in its employ. Judge Fellenz said that the case must go to Judge Fowler in circuit court, and bound Mulrony over under bonds of $250 provided restitution was made. The amount Mulrony was charged with embezzling is $155.

694 were boys. Members participating in the gymnasium classes totaled 16,631 for the year. Swimming attracted the largest group of any sport with 235 men, women, girls and boys being taught to swim. Of the regular sports, basketball attracted 100 men and 75 boys. Other sports reaching a large number of members were volleyball, base ball, handball and miscellaneous games. A total of 125 boys attended the two summer camps of the group.

CARRIERS HELP IN PIG CENSUS

Annual Count for Government
Also Includes Figures on Sheep This Year.

Census blanks have been distributed among rural carriers here for the purpose of taking count of pigs and sheep in the rural communities. These blanks are furnished by the department of agriculture semi-annually, through the post office department, and the survey has been of great value to farmers in planning future production and marketing current supplies.

For the first time during the three years in which these surveys have been made, farmers are asked to report on sheep. This is done because sheep production has been found

Twenty-four Hours.

Schultz Bros. Co., Voigt's Drug Store and every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if ALLENRHU, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

ALLENRHU has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of ALLENRHU, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENRHU decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed Schultz Bros. Co. and Voigt's Drug Store and druggists everywhere to guarantee it as above in every instance. adv.

profitable for some years, and according to the agricultural department the survey is expected to give that industry a further impetus. The cards call for the following information: Number of acres, number of pigs more than six months old, number of pigs less than six months old, number of sows that farrowed from Jan. 1 to June 1, number of pigs saved during that period this year, and the number of sows that farrowed and pigs that were saved during the same period last year. Similar information is required regarding sheep. The postal authorities here must make their reports by June 5.
